

Laois Garden Trail

Foreword

by Dermot O' Neill: broadcaster, writer, lecturer and gardening expert

Dermot O' Neill

Since buying a small home and beginning to develop a walled garden in the foothills of the Slieve Bloom Mountains, County Laois, I have fallen in love with the place. I've had opportunities to grow a wide and varied range of plants from fruit and vegetables to trees and shrubs, and my special interest—roses. The county brings its own unique and special atmosphere, making it a magical place to create a garden. This new trail provides a unique opportunity to showcase some of the county's finest private and public gardens. You don't have to be an expert to enjoy the beauty of these places.

Included in the trail are famous public gardens such as Emo Court and Heywood, but there are also several uniquely styled gardens, where the personality of the owner shows through. A fine example is Dunmore Country School, owned by Tanguy de Toulgoët, a French horticulturist of great skill. There you will see a working French-style kitchen garden. Another garden which shows the owners' personality is Gash Gardens, owned by Mary Keenan and Ross Doyle. These gardens were started 25 years ago and have developed into a plantsman's paradise, full of interesting and beautifully arranged and grown plants. Fruitlawn Garden, a one acre Walled garden, is created by Nationally renowned garden designer Arthur Shackleton. Beautiful plant combinations of Rare and unusual plants can be seen. The garden has a formal layout and is planted with artistic style. Arthur belongs to a famous Irish gardening tradition started by his father David at Beech Park.

These are just some of the fantastic gardens to be seen on this trail. Explore this brochure and take time to discover and be inspired by some of the country's finest gardens, both public and private.

—Dermot O'Neill

Introduction

The gardens in Laois attract novice and experienced gardeners from all over the world.

This brochure invites you to explore the Gardens of County Laois. Laois is situated in the heart of some of Ireland's most beautiful landscapes, where history has left its marks in the remains of Celtic ringforts, medieval ruins and monastic buildings. County Laois is steeped in heritage and folklore and has many historic buildings and gardens testament to this.

The Laois Garden Trail features 10 gardens including great old gardens such as Emo Court and Heywood Gardens and smaller gardens which stimulate creativity and imagination. The gardens in Laois attract novice and experienced gardeners from all over the world.

Laois is located in the heart of Ireland and its central location also offers the visitor the perfect base to explore Ireland and the neighbouring counties of Carlow, Kildare, Kilkenny, Offaly and Tipperary, all part of the Ireland's Ancient East Region. Portlaoise is the main county town and has a superb road, rail and bus infrastructure and is easily accessible to most towns and cities in Ireland. County Laois is located approximately 1 hour from Dublin, 45 minutes from Kilkenny, 45 minutes from the Rock of Cashel and 1 hour 30 minutes from Rosslare ferry port.

The Garden at Ballintubbert

A beautiful Arts and Crafts garden where visitors experience simplicity and complexity at the same time. Relaxing, but at times challenging, this 14 acre space stimulates the senses and the imagination.

Lutyens Garden

White Garden

Canal and house

Karnak

Ballintubbert, Stradbally, Co. Laois
(041) 988 4771
www.ballintubbert.com

Opening dates: April – September

Opening times: Open by appointment

Facilities: Toilets. The garden is suitable for coach tours, but is not wheelchair accessible.

Children: Children are welcome but must be supervised at all times as there is a large water feature.

Dogs: Dogs not allowed.

Unusual plants: An emphasis is placed on hardy and native plants.

GPS Coordinates: 52.983469, -7.085066

This garden was started in its current form in 1999. It covers an area of 14 acres and continues to develop, consisting of 42 ‘rooms’ of which 20 have been completed to date. Some of these include The Victorian Secret Garden, the White Garden, the Little Orchard and the Theatre Lawn. As visitors choose their routes through rooms, they sometimes must choose between continuing on their way or doubling back to see a room, which they may have missed. This creates a tension in an otherwise relaxing space – all part of the juxtaposition of this enthralling garden.

Potager

Detail from ‘The Tree Kings’ sculpture

Canal from the house

The owners at Ballintubbert are Robinsonian in their outlook, placing an emphasis on hardy and native plants. This is best exemplified in the ‘Robinson’ room where native plants cohabit with less common Babbington leek, Burren onion, ginkgo and a European selection of hemerocallis. Here visitors will marvel at the ‘Green Man’ sculpture, which was carved from an old Spanish chestnut tree. Further on, visitors must concentrate as they ascend a series of steps to look through the Oval Window for an unusual vista of the house, the Lime Walk and the Canal, which measures 100 metres long and is 13 metres wide. The axis of the canal runs through the house, the Lutyens Garden, which is based on the original design for the Lutyens Garden at Heywood, and through the Irish Yew Walks. This axis almost splits the garden in two. It is made whole again by the Contemplative Walk, which runs for 2.5 kilometres around the garden boundary.

DIRECTIONS

From Stradbally Village: Take the Carlow Road/N80 south, travel up the hill and through the mountain gap. As the road falls, look out for the sign on the left hand side. 4.6km from Stradbally.

From Athy: Take the Carlow Road south, travelling 5.2km out of town through the village of Ballylynan. After Ballylynan look out for the sign. At the sign, turn right towards Stradbally. After 4.5km look out for the sign on the right. Turn right and travel 1.2km to our car park.

Castle Durrow

Demesne gardens with formal terraces, herbaceous borders, and a vegetable and flower garden with mixed annuals.

Castle Durrow

Castle Durrow Gardens

Walled Kitchen Garden

Castle Durrow Gardens

Owner: Peter and Shelly Stokes

Durrow, Co. Laois

+353 (0) 57-8736555

info@castledurrow.com

www.castledurrow.com

Admission fees: Free. Guided Garden tours available on request and must be booked in advance.

Opening dates: All year

Opening times: Daylight hours to view gardens.

Facilities: Toilets, Bar & Restaurant

Refreshments: Refreshments available in our bar and drawing room.

Renovations to the house and gardens started in 1999. South facing terraces were put in and planted with pink, blue and white flowering plants. At the bottom of the steps an avenue of scented roses was created, containing: The Mayflower, Brother Cadfael, Gertrude Jekyll, Rambling Rector, New Dawn, Mary Rose, and Grace.

Pink cherry trees draw the eye to the far end of the lawn. This area is called 'The Good South'. Adjacent is the Pleasure Garden, which is home to a tall monkey puzzle tree, a huge buxus sempervirens and a copper beech with a circumference of 7 metres! Paths lead to the gazebo, which is topped with a weathervane depicting a bridal couple.

Steps lead to the Courtyard, which has a rectangular lay out. Buxus topiary gives structure in winter, while scented roses provide a wonderful fragrance throughout summer. Among the roses are: Gertrude Jekyll, Jubilee Celebration, Winchester Cathedral, The Generous Gardener, Alnwick Castle, John Clare, Wildeva, Comte De Chambord and the thornless Zepherine Drouhin. From here visitors can look down on the Walled Garden, which is divided by hedging into several 'rooms'. There is a Herb Garden and a Vegetable Garden, which is full of produce chosen by the Head Chef. Produce from the Fruit Garden is used for making jams, desserts and cordial. The Flower Border supplies the hotel with cut flowers – lilies and a variety of roses such as Queen of Sweden, The Fairy, Little White Pet, Rosa Mundi, Mrs John Laing, New Dawn, Adelaide De Orleans, Madame Alfred Carerra, Penelope and Ann Boylen.

The river walk, which forms part of the Laois Leafy Loop Walk, runs along the Erkina River. Along here, bluebells and wild garlic grow under the trees, which were planted in Victorian times. The walk ends behind the Church of Ireland graveyard where the original Castle owners, the Ashbrooks, are buried.

Gazebo

Courtyard

Children: Children are welcome but must be supervised at all times.

Dogs: Dogs allowed on leads.

Unusual plants: Quercus ilex, Korean oak, David Austen English roses.

GPS Coordinates: 52.845917, -7.401266

DIRECTIONS

From Dublin, take the M8 to Cork. Exit the motorway at Portlaoise, taking the old N8 to Durrow. In Durrow the entrance to Castle Durrow is at the village green.

From Cork, take the M8 to Dublin, exiting at Urlingford and travelling along the old N8 to Durrow. In Durrow, the entrance to Castle Durrow is at the Village Green.

Clonaslee Garden

One acre of enchanting, rural gardens developed around old farmyard.

Under the Weeping Pear

Rambling rose 'Kiftsgate'

The Long Border

Stipa gigantea

Owner: Nancy Costelloe

Graiguefulla, Clonaslee, Co. Laois

+353 (0) 57-8648038

annecostelloe@eircom.net

Admission fees: €5 per person including tea/coffee

Opening dates: March – September

Opening times: By appointment only

Facilities: Toilet. Partial wheelchair access. Some access roads not suitable for large coaches; please contact the owner for further details.

Refreshments: Tea/Coffee included

Children: Children are welcome but must be supervised at all times.

Dogs: Dogs allowed on leads.

This floral oasis in the Laois farmland was established 15 years ago. In the old farmyard, a sundial is surrounded by box hedging and flowers. A rambling red rose climbs the gable end of an old stone farm building. Near the house, a seated area is shaded by a pergola covered in wisteria. From here visitors can admire the rockeries, the raised lavender bed, the upright yews and the weeping copper beech.

Courtyard

The Stumpery

Cornus kousa satomi

A stroll across a small stone path leads to a water feature, constructed to look like a natural spring. A quaint glasshouse, which houses tomatoes and beans, provides support to clematis. In front of this glasshouse there is a wonderful display of pink lilies and scented pink roses, which complement the pink cornus kousa. Passing tall foxgloves and arching Solomon's seal, visitors will come to a short beech walk. At the end of this there is a piece of bog oak, which is covered in clematis. This leads to a rectangular lawned area, where the lawn is so perfect that croquet is played on it. It is lined on either side by herbaceous borders, which are full of poppies, astrantias, lilies, delphinium, aquilegia, crocosmia, astilbe and nepeta 'Six Hills Giant'. Beyond the striking Sambucus nigra 'Black Lace' is the vegetable garden, which produces all the standard fare as well as the eye catching red chard. Opposite is the berry garden, which produces blackcurrant, raspberry, gooseberry and blueberry.

Unusual plants: Sambucus nigra 'Black Lace', cornus kousa satomi, and weeping copper beech.

Awards: Won Best Garden in Laois 3 times in the VIKING Irish Garden Awards.

GPS Coordinates: 53.163137, -7.497869

DIRECTIONS

From Mountmellick/Portlaoise: Proceed along the R422; after Rosenallis go through a crossroad, then take the next right. Drive for 1.8 kilometres, passing a small stone cottage called 'Rose Cottage' on the left hand side and veering right at this cottage. A short distance later Clonaslee Garden is on the left.

From Clonaslee village: Drive toward Rosenallis on the R422. 0.5 kilometres after the speed sign on the edge of Clonaslee village, turn left. Drive for 1.8 kilometres, passing a small stone cottage called 'Rose Cottage' on the left hand side and veering right at this cottage. A short distance later Clonaslee Garden is on the left.

Clonohill Gardens

Clonohill Gardens are the splendid creation of floral artist Enda Thompson-Phelan, and feature many interesting and unusual plants on a one acre site surrounding Clonohill House.

Carex evergold provides strong contrast with Berginia cardifolia

Delphiniums

Lakeside buttercups

Terracotta ducks in the Walled Garden

Owner: Enda Thompson Phelan

Laois Angling Centre, Coolrain, Co. Laois

+353 (0) 87-9962864

clonohillgardens@gmail.com

www.laoisanglingcentre.ie

Admission Fees: €6 per person

Opening Dates: May-September

Opening Times: By appointment only

Facilities: Coach parking, refreshments and toilets.

The gardens are partly wheelchair accessible.

Hospitality area and toilet are wheelchair accessible.

Refreshments: Available

Children: Children are welcome but must be supervised at all times.

Dogs: Dogs not allowed.

Unusual plants: Beesia calthifolia, Jeffersonia diphylla, Diplarrhena moraea, Triostemon pinnatifidum,

The Gardens have been designed and developed to enhance the existing landscape with many mature trees providing a shady home for woodland treasures.

The looped trail begins at the woodland area where collections of Trilliums, Helleborus and Galanthus thrive. From there, the path leads on to Jacobs Walk, which provides a colourful surprise for the visitor with its meandering gravel pathway framed by sandstone stables constructed by Enda's grandfather, the late Jacob Thompson. Varieties of Polemonium (Jacobs Ladder) flourish in this area together with groups of Achillea King Alfred and the small Ligularia 'cafe noir'. Residing comfortably along the gravel pathway are many miniature Hostas. Heuchera varieties provide foliage colour and strong contrast with Sedums, Veronics and Candleabra primulas. Occasional evergreen planting of Ilex crenata and Diplarrhena moraea are notable plants during the winter months.

An archway frames the entrance to the North Garden where one is greeted by an attractive Cytisus battandieri. In this area mature trees provide a decorative home for a vast collection of interesting Ferns and leads on to an extensive open lawn area with its curving paths and many colourful Herbaceous borders. A secret area and popular with children is the 'Red Squirrels Den' with its majestic Sitka Spruce trees.

The sheltered walled garden overlooking the lake is a plant collectors' paradise where Ramonda myconi, Roscoea and Celmissias thrive alongside star performers Paeonia mlokoewitschii, Mecanopsis grandis and Cardiocrinum giganteum. Clonohill Gardens very much reveal the owners artistic sensitivity and attract much acclaim from visiting groups.

Left to right: One hundred year old Thuja plicata frame an entrance to the Walled Garden; A figurine rests comfortably with harmonising plant material; Archway view of Jacob's Walk; Diplarrhena moraea enjoys a sunny spot along Jacob's Walk

Ramonda myconi, Cicerbita lactuca bourgeii,
Aristolchia macrophylla, Peltoboykinia watanabei.

GPS Coordinates: 52.984444, -7.624722

DIRECTIONS

From Dublin M7: Take Exit 18 for Mountrath (R445) and drive through town towards Limerick. Travel 1 mile from Mountrath, take the 1st right turn signed for Coolrain. Continue straight for 4 miles approximately arriving at a crossroads junction with a stop sign and sign for Laois Angling Centre. Continue straight through crossroads and at T-junction take left signposted for Laois Angling Centre. Entrance 100 metres from junction.

From Limerick M7: Take Exit 22 and drive towards Roscrea. At roundabout take 4th (last) exit signed for Dublin. Travel 3 miles approximately and take 2nd left turn after Roscrea Golf Club, signed Ballaghmore and Laois Angling Centre. Entrance is signed and is 3 miles from Ballaghmore. Clonohill Gardens are adjacent to Laois Angling Centre.

Dunmore Country School

Working/ teaching kitchen garden developed along the lines of a French 'potager' (kitchen garden)

Green Pepper

Borage

Conference pears

Owner: Tanguy de Toulgoët

Swan Road, Durrow, Co. Laois

+353 (0) 87-1258002 / +353 (0) 57-8736578

tanguy@dunmorecountryschool.ie

www.dunmorecountryschool.ie

Admission fees: €5 per person. Groups of 10-20 only

Opening dates: March – November

Opening times: By appointment only

Facilities: No. Not wheelchair accessible. Gardening tool sales.

Refreshments: Available by request to groups.

Children: Children are welcome but must be supervised at all times.

Dogs: Dogs allowed on leads.

Unusual plants: Sorrel Rumex Montanus, white blackcurrant.

Although this garden was only established in 2005, it has already featured in the Farmers Journal, Irish Times and Irish Independent as well as Jane Powers' book The Living Garden. Dunmore Country School has also featured on RTE's Nationwide and Dermot's Secret Garden. It covers approximately 1 acre. It is not a show garden, rather a working kitchen garden, which is dedicated to teaching. It is, in Tanguy's words, "not a display garden but a garden in progress".

Red Gage

Swiss Chard

Dunmore Country School

Tanguy follows traditional gardening methods and believes in biodiversity.

Tanguy keeps bees at Dunmore Country School. So, there are plenty of flowers for bees to feed on, such as nepeta 'Six Hills Giant'. Green manures phacelia, buckwheat, mustard and clover are grown. Herbs are also produced including absinthe, angelica, various types of mint and hyssop. Some of these are used for herbal medicine.

This garden overflows with fruit and vegetables. A range of vegetables are cultivated such as Japanese squash, courgettes, oca and rocket as well as unusual produce like purple carrots and purple potatoes. 48 varieties of tomatoes were grown in 2011 including some Mexican varieties. A selection of berries fruit in the garden; tayberry, gooseberry, blackberry, blackcurrant and the unusual white blackcurrant. There are interesting features such as a medlar tree, a fruiting quince, and a fruiting hedge, which is planted at 45° angle. Everything is used and processed. Tanguy saves a lot of seeds.

GPS Coordinates: 52.858179, -7.401268

DIRECTIONS

From Durrow, take ROSCREA direction continue for 1km and take first right on L1652 and immediately left. Drive for about 100 metres. The entrance is the first one on the right, first house behind the trees.

Emo Court

100 acres of parkland with formal lawns, mature trees and a nursery lake all located against the backdrop of a stately 18th century building.

Lake at Emo Court

Yew Tree Walk

Emo Court from the Wellingtonia Avenue

Walnut Tree

Owner: Office of Public Works

Emo, Portlaoise, Co. Laois

+353 (0) 57-8626573 / +353 (0) 86-8107916

emocourt@opw.ie

www.opw.ie

Admission fees: Free admission to gardens but garden tours must be booked in advance.

Opening dates: All year for the Gardens (Daylight hours). House open Easter to September.

Opening times: Gardens (Daylight Hours).

House (Guided Tours available 10am – 6pm daily, Easter to September).

Facilities: Wheelchair accessible with disabled toilet.

Refreshments: Tea Rooms on site.

Children: Children are welcome but must be supervised at all times.

Dogs: Dogs allowed on leads.

The historic Emo Court was designed by James Gandon in 1790. In 1995, the estate was handed over to the State by the late Col. C. D. Cholmeley Harrison. 250 acres of the estate are managed by the Office of Public Works (100 acres of parkland including nursery lake).

Stone Tiger at Emo Court

One of the 'Four Seasons' statues

Polyhymnia surrounded by catmint

At the front of the house the Wellingtonia Avenue stretches for 1 mile. It is named after the Sequoiadendron giganteum, which line it. A beech walk behind the house leads to the nursery lake, which covers an area of 25 acres. Closer to the house there are formal lawns with a number of statues. The Four Seasons statues represent Winter, Spring, Summer and Autumn. The bronze statue of Polyhymnia sits near the house and is surrounded by catmint (nepeta). The Huntsman and His Dog can be found in the area known as 'the Clucker'. Bacchus stands in 'the Grapery' while Ceres awaits visitors at the end of the yew walk.

Behind the house, the arboretum covers approximately 20 acres. Here, grass pathways meander through an impressive variety of trees such as the Bhutan Pine, the Tulip Tree (Liriodendron Tulipefera) the Handkerchief Tree (Davidia involucrata) and cedars including the Blue Atlas Cedar and the Cedar of Lebanon. A Walnut tree is a source of food for red squirrels, which live on the grounds. So is the large Spanish chestnut, which produces edible chestnuts. The bark of this tree has a wonderful texture. Also interesting is the lime tree avenue. It pre-dates Emo Court and is testament to the original building, Dawson Court.

Unusual plants: Evergreen oaks Quercus ilex and a large Spanish chestnut Castanea sativa.

GPS Coordinates: 53.10782, -7.19854

DIRECTIONS

From the M7 motorway, take exit 15 for Emo/Portarlinton. Follow the signs for Emo village. Take the 3rd exit off the roundabout for Emo. In Emo village turn right at the signpost for Emo Court.

Fruitlawn Garden

Walled-in garden of approximately 1 acre with richly planted perennial borders containing many unusual plants, Hornbeam tunnel, orchard, fruit and vegetable garden, oak copse, yew hedges, beautiful climbing roses and many other lovely trees and shrubs.

Campanulas, Artemisia and Phloxes

Fruitlawn Garden

Fruitlawn Garden

Fruitlawn Garden

Owner: Arthur Shackleton & Carol Booth

Fruitlawn, Abbeyleix, Co. Laois

+353 (0) 57-8730146

shackletonarthur@yahoo.ie

www.arthurshackleton.com

Admission fees: €5 per person without guide. €7 for guided group tours. No group discount. Guided tours for groups only.

Opening dates: May – October

Opening times: By appointment only

Facilities: Plant Sales. Wheelchair accessible garden, but no toilets.

Refreshments: No, but there are plenty of cafés and restaurants in nearby Abbeyleix.

Created 15 years ago by garden designer Arthur Shackleton, Fruitlawn Garden covers approximately 1 acre within a walled in setting. The garden has a formal layout with paths, hedges and a hornbeam tunnel dividing it across the middle.

The different spaces in the garden include large perennial borders which have a mass of changing colour and texture throughout the summer. There is also an Oak copse under-planted with lots of spring bulbs, a fruit and vegetable garden area, which includes more unusual plants like seakale, asparagus, blue potatoes and wineberries. A small orchard is set in a wildflower meadow. A small formal pool, a yew-hedged recreation space and many unusual and beautiful wall plants complete the picture.

The plants in the garden include many rare and special varieties collected over the years from some of Ireland's best gardens. Many of these are for sale in the garden.

Within the formal layout, hundreds of perennial plants self-seed freely giving the garden a relaxed and informal feel. These include: Agapanthus, Aquilegas, Campanulas, Geraniums, Oenotheras and Eryngiums.

Fruitlawn Garden

Oak Copse

Children: Children are welcome but must be supervised at all times.

Dogs: Dogs not allowed.

Unusual plants: Hosta krossa regal, aristolochia macrophylla, fruiting quince.

GPS Coordinates: 52.906264, -7.401052

DIRECTIONS

Take Ballacolla/Rathdowney road from Abbeyleix, after approximately 4km turn right to Shanahoe on L1653. Go approximately 0.75km, pass large white house on right. Fruitlawn is next entrance between two stone buildings.

Gash Gardens

A hidden treasure trove of interesting and unusual plants in an enchanting and tranquil setting.

Water – a linking element throughout the garden

Eyecatching use of texture

Toadstools

Garden features blend harmoniously with lush planting

Owner: Mary Keenan & Ross Doyle

Gash, Castletown, Portlaoise, Co. Laois
+353 (0) 87-2728337 / +353 (0) 57-8732247
gashgardens@eircom.net
www.gashgardens.ie

Admission fees: €5 per person. Guided tours for groups of 10+ is by appointment and requires advance booking.

Opening dates: Gardens open
1st May – 30th September

Opening times: 10am-5pm from Mon-Sat. Closed on Sundays except by prior arrangement. Group tours by appointment.

Facilities: Parking. Plant Sales. Toilets. Visitors are welcome to picnic in the gardens. Wedding photography and photo shoots are facilitated subject to advance booking and fees.

Refreshments: Available by advance request to groups.

Children: Children are welcome but must be supervised at all times due to water features and river. Gash Gardens are not suitable for small children.

Established for over 25 years, Gash Gardens has evolved from a farm paddock where cows once grazed into a plantsperson's oasis that now covers an area of approximately 4 acres.

Moonhouse

Water and lily

These well kept gardens progress through 3 distinct areas: a semi-formal gravel garden where rambling pathways lead through billowing displays of flower and foliage, a lawn area punctuated with colourful herbaceous borders and fine specimen trees, and a looped riverside walk where nature abounds. The distinguishing feature of the garden is a stone cavern known as the Moon House with a cascade tumbling past its circular window into a lily pond. Water is a linking element throughout the garden with meandering streams and soothing pond areas inhabited by frogs and newts. A laburnum archway leads through a fernery and along a path lined with beech hedging to the river walk, along the River Nore. Plenty of well-positioned seats and a gazebo invite visitors to pause a while and absorb the views, sounds and pervasive scents in this haven of peace and tranquillity. Great emphasis is placed on foliage and texture. Beds are filled with rogersia, gunnera, astilbe, ligularia, darmera, iris, crocosmia, and eye-catching flowers like Lilium martagon, Alstroemeria psittacina and Cirsium rivulare 'Atropurpureum'. The garden hosts a particularly large collection of perennial geraniums teamed with old-fashioned roses and an ever expanding assembly of Polygonatum and other intriguing shade-loving plants like Ypsilandra tibetica, Saruma henryi and Triosteum pinnatifidum. Visitors will need at least one hour to enjoy Gash Gardens.

Dogs: Dogs allowed on leads

Awards: Gash Gardens has won awards in the Leinster and Midlands Regional categories of the Shamrock All Ireland Gardens Competition in 1990, 1995 and 1998 and took first place in the Laois County category of the Viking Irish Garden Awards in 2005 and 2007.

Unusual plants: Cornus controversa 'Variegata', Acer griseum, Davidia involucrata, Cercidiphyllum japonicum, Picea omorika 'Pendula', Syringa x josiflexa 'Bellicent', Hydrangea aspera subsp. sargentiana.

GPS Coordinates: Lat: 52.9708 Long: -7.4867

DIRECTIONS

Located just over 1 kilometre off the R445 (formerly the N7) between Portlaoise and Roscrea, close to the village of Castletown. The garden is approximately 16 kilometres from Portlaoise. From the M7 at Portlaoise, take Exit 18 and follow the R445 through Mountrath to Castletown. Turn left off the R445 to enter Castletown Village. Follow the signs for Gash Gardens and Keenans Nursery.

Heywood Gardens

50 acres of woodland, lakes and formal gardens including the sunken garden designed by Sir Edwin Lutyens.

Entrance to Oval Garden from lawn

Lilies in Oval Garden

Owner: Office of Public Works

Ballinakill, Co. Laois
heywood@opw.ie
www.opw.ie

Admission fees: Free admission to gardens. Garden tours must be booked in advance.

Opening dates: All year. Weekend access through turnstile gate only.

Opening times: Daylight hours

Facilities: Car park

Children: Children are welcome but must be supervised at all times.

The centrepiece of these gardens is the Lutyens Garden designed by Sir Edwin Lutyens, and dating from 1912. A pond with turtle fountains is surrounded by a range of plants; peony, miniature Iris, Bergenia, Anemone, Hostas, Geraniums, Heuchera, and Saxifraga.

Turtle at fountain edge

Window on original entrance drive

View of Oval Garden

Blue tones are provided by Nepeta, Aconitum, Delphinium, and Chionodoxa. These contrast nicely with the white Zantedeschia, Iberis spervirens, Anaphalis and white jasmine. The pink Rosa 'Mevrouw Nathalie Nypels' gives a hedge effect and is under-planted with bluebells for spring colour. From the elliptical, sunken garden, a hidden staircase leads to a series of 'rooms' which are divided by Taxus baccata hedging. One of these rooms houses old species roses and Iris from Dublin's Botanic Gardens. Another room has Astilbes, Lilium 'Brunello', Dianthus and lupins.

A pleached lime alley planted in approximately 1906 leads from the Lutyens Garden to the Upper Terrace, where there are Alliums, wild rose, Erinus alpinus, hardy cyclamen, and Kniphofia. Nearby the Pergola has been recently planted with Hydrangeas, Wisteria, and Fuchsia. From here visitors can view the chain of three lakes below which are part of the older romantic landscape and can be accessed via the steps. A new pathway leads through beech trees down to the original drive. Along this drive visitors can admire the exterior of the partially restored Orangery, the Sham Castle and the old window. The landscape also includes the woodland of ancient oaks and beech, an obelisk, Claude's Seat and the bath house.

Dogs: Dogs are not allowed in the formal gardens and must be kept on a lead in all other areas of the grounds.

Unusual plants: Split leaf beech, Lilium 'Brunello', old species roses.

GPS Coordinates: 52.884259, -7.300179

DIRECTIONS

7km south-east from Abbeyleix off R432 to Ballinakill. (The gardens are on the grounds of Ballinakill Community School).

Sensory Garden at Dove House

Calm relaxed style of garden built and planted by service users at Dove House.

Statue

Sundial

Maze

Sensory Garden at Dove House

Owner: Sisters of Charity of Jesus and Mary and the Muiriosa Foundation

Dove House, Main Street, Abbeyleix, +353 (0) 57-8731325
dovehouse@scjms.ie

Admission fees: Donations at visitors' discretion.
Groups of less than 15 people welcome.

Opening dates: Monday – Friday all year round

Opening times: 10am – 4pm guided tours by appointment.

Facilities: Wheelchair accessible. Braille signage for people with visual impairment. Plant sales – winter and summer bedding plants – as well as concrete garden ornament sales.

Previously a Brigidine Convent, this 2 acre site was built and planted in 1996 by people with intellectual disabilities – all participants at Dove House. Their work sits against the backdrop of lime trees, which were donated by Lady de Vesci in 1840. The aim of the garden is to make visitors more aware of their five senses – Touch, Sound, Smell, Sight and Taste.

Hornbeam tunnel in the Sensory Garden

Loosestrife

The Fruit and Vegetable Gardens stimulate taste while smell is stimulated by the Scented Garden, which is planted with scented geraniums, scented roses, philadelphus, oregano, lemon balm, honeysuckle and Viburnum bodnantense. Visitors can wander through the hornbeam maze under the pear archway, which is under-planted with gooseberries, towards the Sculpture Garden. In the Sculpture Garden, there is a willow arbour and a mosaic has been started by the participants of Dove House.

An impressive feature is the Humming Stone with a hole carved in the middle of it. A person of any hearing ability can put his/her head in the hole and hear the resonance when others shout into the hole. The trickling water in the pond and fountain also stimulates the sense of sound. So do the chimes in the thatched summer house. A hornbeam tunnel was developed with visually impaired people in mind. The light draws the eye down the tunnel towards the fountain at the end. The sense of touch is stimulated by grass and pebbles underfoot and by the different textures of leaves and petals.

Thatched Summer House

Children: Children are welcome but must be supervised at all times.

Dogs: Dogs are not allowed.

Awards: Won an environmental award from ESB.

Unusual plants: Box elder, acer negundo, flamingo rowan, and blue cedar trees.

GPS Coordinates: 52.915712, -7.347392

DIRECTIONS

From Dublin take the M8 to Cork. Exit the motorway at Portlaoise, taking the old N8 to Abbeyleigh. In Abbeyleigh pass the Heritage Building on the left, go over the brow of a hill, turning left at the blue gates before the pedestrian crossing.

Laois Garden Trail Map

Garden Locations

The County of Laois is one of the most centrally located Counties in Ireland and is an integral part of the Ireland's Ancient East region. Laois is situated in the heart of some of Ireland's most beautiful landscapes, where history has left its marks in the remains of Celtic ringforts, medieval ruins and monastic buildings. Laois is located less than one hour from Dublin's suburbs, 45 minutes from Kilkenny, 45 minutes from the Rock of Cashel and 30 minutes from horse-racing at the Curragh. Portlaoise has a superb road, rail and bus infrastructure.

Resources

FOR INFORMATION ON TOURISM AND GROUP BOOKINGS

Dominic Reddin, Tourism Officer, Laois County Council, Aras an Chontae, Portlaoise, County Laois.

T: +353 (0) 57 866 4218 E: dreddin@laoiscoco.ie

FOR INFORMATION ON HERITAGE

Catherine Casey, Heritage Officer, Laois County Council, Aras an Chontae, Portlaoise, County Laois

T: +353 (0) 57 866 4129 E: ccasey@laoiscoco.ie

www.laois.ie/heritage

VIEW ONLINE AT: WWW.LAOISTOURISM.IE

Acknowledgements

Laois County Council would like to thank the Heritage Council for its support of this publication.

Laois County Council would like to thank Dermot O' Neill.

Text and Compilation by Kerrie O' Connor, Event Success, Copyright 2011.

Graphic design by Connie Scanlon, Bogfire. www.bogfire.com.

Photographs by Kevin Byrne, Copyright.

Photographs taken by Clonohill Gardens, Gash Gardens, and Castle Durrow, Copyright.

Laois Gardens location map by Penhouse Design.

Laois County Council and Laois Tourism wish to thank the Garden owners for their involvement in this Garden Trail Guide and for their ongoing assistance.

All Rights reserved. This item may not be reproduced in any form without the prior permission of the publishers. The publishers cannot accept responsibility for errors or omissions but where such are brought to our attention future publications will be amended accordingly. This edition printed 2016.

"The love of gardening is a seed once sown that never dies".

— Gertrude Jekyll